

• Controlled

• Quiet

• Predatory

• Patient

• Observant

StalksCrouchesTracksMoves Through CoverDisappears

POSTURE & SILHOUETTE

Relaxed / NeutralAlert / ListeningObservingCoiled / ReadyEngaged

EXPRESSING REFERENCE

NeutralSuspiciousFocusedProtectivePredatory CalmCold / Lethal

PERFORMANCE NOTES

Shada is rarely the first to act. She watches, she measures, she chooses the moment others think is safe.

She is a shadow in the forest.

ACTOR NOTES

- Breathe low and quiet
- Maximum movement
- Eyes scan constantly
- Weight on balls of feet
- Live environment
- React to environment

PAGE 4 OF 5

ART DEPARTMENT BRIEF

The actor should inhabit Shada through restraint. She enters a space by reading it, not owning it. Stillness is active; every glance checks distance, scent, vibration, exits, and changes in the environment.

MOVEMENT PRINCIPLES

- Economical and controlled
- Low profile and quiet footwork
- Patient before explosive action
- Predatory, never theatrical
- Uses terrain and shadow

FACIAL LANGUAGE

- Neutral alertness
- Suspicion without panic
- Focused assessment
- Protective boundary around the helpless
- Cold, lethal calm toward the hunted

ACTOR NOTES

- Breathe low and quiet
- Scan before speaking
- Shift weight onto the balls of the feet
- Avoid military posture
- Allow warmth only around the crew

PRODUCTION NOTES

- Production Design Bible governs all choices.
- Generated artwork is visual reference; PDF typography is canonical.
- Review against Character-Lock.md before approval.
- Print size: A2 landscape, 300 DPI equivalent.

DEPARTMENT SIGN-OFF

- ☐ Costume
- ☐ Weapons
- ☐ Hair
- ☐ Makeup / SFX
- ☐ Production Design

She doesn't enter a space. She studies it.