CHARACTER PROMPT

SHADA – MERCENARY ASSASSIN

Use with: Production Design Bible v1.0

CHARACTER PROMPT (COPY & PASTE)

Shada, a female human mercenary assassin in her late 20s, lean and agile, with subtle snake-like scale markings on her skin. She has dark wavy hair tied up messily, blue eyes, and a predatory, hungry expression. She wears lightweight, scavenged armor made of flexible scale-like plates in muted greens and dark reds, with mismatched shoulder armor, leather straps, and a hooded scarf. Exposed midriff shows scale markings. Arm wraps, fingerless gloves, belt with pouches and holster, layered tactical pants with straps and a tattered cloth. She holds a blaster pistol in one hand and a knife in the other. Standing in a dense forest, on alert like an animal, facing the camera. Cinematic, realistic Star Wars aesthetic, weathered, practical, lived-in.

KEY DESIGN NOTES

- Assassin/thief silhouette: lean, compact, built for speed and stealth.
- Snake ancestry reflected in scale-like skin patterns and flexible scale armor.
- Armor is patchwork, scavenged, and mismatched—flexible, not bulky.
- Practical gear with visible wear, repairs, and field modifications.
- Weapons are simple tools—worn, reliable, and personally modified.
- Expression and posture are animalistic, not militaristic.
- Follows the Production Design Bible v1.0 in all aspects (materials, colour, wear, realism, and construction).

Character: Shada
Role: Mercenary assassin and thief.
Look: Lean, agile, predator-like. Ancient serpentine DNA visible as subtle scale patterning.

Scavenged armour mixes flexible organic scale panels with collected protective shoulder armour. Armed with a simple blaster and knife. Designed according to the Production Design Bible.
