CHARACTER NOTES

Shada is the first to act, not the last. She measures the moment others do.

Shada is the first to act, not the last. She measures the moment others do.

ACTOR NOTES

- Breathe low and quiet
- Minimal movement
- Eyes scan constantly
- Weight on balls of feet
- Use environment
- Touch gear when thinking

MOVEMENT PRINCIPLES

- Economical and controlled
- Low profile and quiet footwork
- Patient before explosive action
- Predatory, never theatrical
- Uses terrain and shadow

FACIAL LANGUAGE

- Neutral alertness
- Suspicion without panic

- Cold, lethal calm toward the hunted

ACTOR NOTES

- Breathe low and quiet
- Scan before speaking
- Shift weight onto the balls of the feet
- Avoid military posture
- Allow warmth only around the crew

DESIGN INTENT

The actor should inhabit Shada through restraint. She enters a space by reading it, not owning it. Stillness is active; every glance checks distance, scent, vibration, exits, and environmental change.
